

CASE STUDY:

Microsoft Excel Automation Home Products International

Home Products International, founded in 1952, is the consumer's choice for home organization and storage products. They offer simple home organizational solutions designed to make life easier and nicer for its consumers including storage containers, laundry management products, hooks, bath and shower organizers, hangers, and home and closet organizers. HPI product lines are developed, manufactured, and marketed under both the Homz brand name and private label. The company has American manufacturing locations and offers distribution throughout North and South America. Home Products International's accounting department uses JD Edwards® World.

